Mrs. John W. Harrison was the hostess of a very handsome luncheon, given at 2 o'clock vesterday afternoon in her home. No. 213 West. Franklin Street.

Mrs. Harrison has one of the hand-komest houses in the city for private entertaining. The entire lower suite of rooms was thrown open for the luncheon, and the effect was very rich and beautiful, a soft glow being diffused throughout from shaded lights, mantets being massed with ferns and flowers and palms being gracefully banked wherever banking could be most advantageously done. The centerpiece for the luncheon table in the diming room was a lovely design in jonguils, the fluted golden bells filling the atmosphere with the very breath of springtime. Silver candelabra, with yellow wax tapers, made the only additional table decoration nected.

Receiving with Mrs. Harrison were Mrs. Harry W. Hazard, Mrs. R. H. Lindsey, Mrs. Edmund Strudwick, Miss Hughes of North Carolina; Mrs. Otway Allen, Mrs. Randolph Wellford, Mrs. Armistead Wellford, Mrs. Samuel Wallace, Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Preston Cocke.

Young ladies who assisted in the dining

Young ladies who assisted in the dining room were the Misses Lindsey. Miss Jessle Hazard, Miss Gladys Frazier, Miss Bessie Upshur, Miss Midred Boyd, Miss Bernard Cocke, Miss Margaret Nolting and Miss Bessie Tompkins.

The brightness of the day, with is clear wintry sunshine, showed the pretty gowns of the guests who passed in and out of the pariors to great advantage and gave an added pleasure to one of the most social gatherings of the winter.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes avery day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.-Prof. Charles Eliot

No. 97.

"O May I Join the Choir Invisible."

By GEORGE ELIOT.

This poem is the most famous as well as the best of the poetical work of Georgo Ellot (Mrs. Mary Ann Lewes Cross). The real position of George Ellot as a writer depends on her novels, for her petry lacked emotion. The biographical sketch of George Ellot has appeared already in this series.

MAY I join the choir invisible MAY I join the choir invisible
Of those immortal dead who live again
In minds made better by their presence: live
In pulses stirred to generosity,
In deeds of daring rectitude, in scorn
For miserable aims that end with self.
In thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars,
And with their mild persistence urgo man's search
To yaster issues.

So to live in heaven

To make undying music in the world.
Breathing as beauleous order that controls
With growing sway with growing life of man.
So we inherit that sweet purity
For which we struggled, failed and agonized,
With widening retrospect that bred despair
Robellious flesh that would not be subdued.
A vicious parent shaming still its child
Poor anxious penitence, is quick dissolved;
Its discords, quenched by meeting harmonics,
Die in the large and charitable air.
And all our rarer, better, truer self,
That sobbed religiously in yearning song.
That watched to case the burden of the world,
Laborlously tracing what must be,
And what may yet be better—saw within
A worthler image for the sanctuary,
And shaped it forth before the multitude
Divinely human, raising worship so
To higher reverence more mixed with love—
That better self shall live till human Time
Shall fold its eyelids, and the human sky
Be gathered like a scroll within the tomb
Unread for ever.

This is life to con This is life to come,
Which martyred men have made more glorious
For us who strive to follow. May I reach
That purest heaven, be to other souls
The cup of strength in some great agony,
Enkindle generous ardor, feed pure love, The cup of stensist respectively. The cup of stensists that have no cruelty—
Bee the smiles that have no cruelty—
Be the sweet presence of a good diffused,
And in diffusion ever more intense.
So shall I join the choif: invisible
Whose music is the gladness of the world;

Unread for ever.

THE BEST THING IN THE WORLD

What's the best thing in the world?
June rose by May dew impearled;
Sweet south wind, that means no rain;
Truth, not cruel to a friend;
Pleasure, not in haste to end;
Beauty, not self-decked and curled.
Till its pride is over plain;
Light, that never makes you wink;
Memory, that gives no pain;
Love, when so, you're byed again,
What's the best thing in the world?
Something out of it. I think. Something out of it, I think.

LOVE'S FAREWELL.

Love has come and gone again; We were bound and we were free; Loved believed of wiser men, Never stays too long with me.

"This was just the golden hour: Since the shadow of regret— Odor of a faded flower— Sweetens my resentment yet.

When it seems no sin to say ould I then foresee this day? While I loved, I loved you we'l.

"Seas shall ring, though lips be dumb; Winters laugh with leaping streams, Amber fields of summer come, Smiling, spite of haggard dreams.

"I shall find what peace there is! Sweetheart lost, adieu, adieu! Lips of mine you will not miss: Other loves will comfort you."

HAPPINESS.

There are in this rude, stunning tide Of human care and crime. With whom the melodics abide,

Of the everkasting chime Through dusty lane and wrangling mart, Plying their daily toil with busier feet, Because their secret souls a holy strain repeat.

SCOTCH HYMN.

There are blossoms that hae budded; Been blighted I' the cauld, when highled it the cauld,
An' lammies that hae perished,
Because they left the fauld;
But cower ye in aneath His wings,
Wha died upon the tree,
An' gather in His bosom,
Helphys weans like you and me.

In the warld there's tribulation; In the warld there's sin and wae; But the warld it is sae bonnie For our Father made it sae; Then brichten up your armour, An' be happy as ye gang, Though your sky be aften clouded, It winns be for lang.

HOT BATTLE LIQUOR IN

Friendly But Furious Fight Bctween College Students and Down-Town Boys.

Revised Regulations Under Which the Honors Will be Awarded-College News.

Many amusing incidents occurred yes terday when the students from McGuiro's and several other schools came out to try their strength in a snow battle with the college boys. The army of youthful warriors first attacked the Richmond Acadcollege boys. The army of youthful warriors first attacked the Richmond Academy, and for some time the battle was fast and furious.

The Academy boys were greatly outnumbered, and though they were assisted by soveral of their professors, they were finally driven within doors. The army then receiving a good many recruits from the Academy forces and flushed with victory came over to the college campus and for a while took possession. Some of the students who were separated from the main building ran into the crowd unknowingly, and to-day they have a long tale of wee to relate. In a short time, however, the bell rang for classes to change, and when the students saw the situation, they were, if anything, more anxious for the battle than the assaliants. Then it began, and for a while the air was white with flying missiles.
Soon, however, the camp followers of the McGuire brigade became smitten with a panic and took to their heels. This had a demoralizing effect on the warriors at panic and took to their heels. This had a demoralizing effect on the warriors at the front, and in a short while the whole army retreated down frace Street at a rate which would have put to shame the speed of Napoleon's army after his Russian campaign.

The affair was enjoyed immensely by both parties, and while the hest of feeling prevalled throughout, it is safe to say that a great many of the participants.

ing prevailed throughout, it is said to say, that a good many of the participants are nursing bruises to-day.

At a recent meeting of the Mu Sigma Rho and Philologean Literary Societies, the question of the orators' and writers' medal was brought-up and discussed at length. Last year there was some dissating at the specific or among the contestants at the isfaction among the contestants at the delivery of the orator's medal, due to delivery of the orator's medal, due to the lack of specific instructions being given to the judges, and it is the desire of all that this session the awards shall be bestowed without a murmur. Committees were appointed from each society for the purpose of drawing up a suitable set of laws, governing these con-tests; Messrs, Willis, Fitzgerald and Lankford represented the Mu Sigma Phi-Society and Messrs, Gaw, Bremner and Lankford represented the Mu Sigma PhiSociety, and Messrs. Gaw, Bremner and new regulation of the State Oratorical Association, which requires each contestant to submit his oration in writing thirty days before the contest, the date of the college contest will be brought the new regulation. The time has been

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You Are Certain to Lose if You Attempt the Use of Force and Violence. You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and time again, with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant, but when pushed beyond the limit it robels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is roached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion, and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Buart's Dyspepsia, Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of lired, worn-out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work, and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric julce and other digestive fluids, and will digest any food that a strong, healthy gromach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions, and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effecting by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal and some waier to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enables that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain, Nature will heal the somach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do ler work in her own way, All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

BLOCKED WITH ICE.

Another serious difficulty confronted the users of city water yesterday morning. The inflow to the reservoir was blocked by ice, and Superintendent Sharp worked energetically to open the inlet. The intensely cold weather of Monday night kept the water works people on the lookout, and the flow was kept free until 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Then the flow ceased, and not until 9 o'clock was it again free.

Citizens generally were inconvenienced. The public school had to close for want of water, and it is quite certain that the City Council will be asked to give the superintendent of water the means by which to devise a contrivance of some kind to stop such unfortunate occurrences.

Girls at this age are pretty straight up and down, and a tight-fitting coat is not nearly so becoming. The model is characterized by an unusually full back. It may be made with one or two capes, or none at all, and the sleave may be in bishop or full style. This is a design that is suitable to silk or cloth, and a pretty development would be of peau de soie, using embroidered bands
